Asset Management Conference, 3rd – 6th June 2013

The Asset Management Council is a technical society of Engineers Australia, and was formed to support increasing community interest in whole of life management of physical assets, and in particular sustainability of the essential capabilities they represent. To help Australia remain at the forefront of asset management practice, we invest greatly in strategic alliances with key Australian organisations, and local and international peak bodies to promote sustained and good asset management.

Our vision is – ‘enabling benefits for all from effective use of assets’.

About the Conference

The 17th Asset Management Conference, held in the city of Melbourne’s truly iconic venue, the MCG, is your key networking opportunity of the year. Hear about the latest developments in asset management and vital technical resources. Understand why asset management is more important than ever and be part of your organisation’s solution.

This year we will also be extending a warm welcome to the Global Forum on Maintenance and Asset Management (GFMAM) who will join us and contribute to an excellent program.

Who should attend?

Anyone who is interested in maximising equipment reliability, increasing plant performance or enhancing company profitability through better or smarter asset management should attend the Asset Management Conference.

Your Hosts – Asset Management Council Melbourne Chapter

Andy Webb and members of the Melbourne committee look forward to welcoming you to another great conference.

Earn CPD Points

Attendance at the Conference earns participants CPD points for Engineers Australia or Asset Management Practitioners.

Conference Technical Team

From strategic thinking and business approaches to asset management tools and techniques to applications for the emerging ISO standard, this year’s Conference program will highlight the best practices and technical information available in 2013. We look forward to meeting you at the Conference!

Rachel Robertson – Antarctic Expedition Leader

Rachel Robertson had the unique honor of leading a 12 month expedition to the Antarctic’s Davis Station, and is only the second female to do so. No ordinary leadership role, Rachael shares her leadership and team building experiences of a group of 18 people she barely knew faced with 9 months in isolation together, whilst juggling the responsibilities of her role in the highest, driest, coldest and windiest place on earth. The photo images are breathtaking.

FAREWELL FUNCTION – FOLLOWED BY A TOUR OF THE MCG
Workshops
Friday 7th June, 8.30am-4pm

1. Measuring Asset Performance
   Andrew O’Connor, Acuitas
   This workshop will assist participants in achieving business objectives through the appropriate use of asset performance metrics. Participants will cover the use and pitfalls for commonly used asset metrics, the types of data quality issues that may be encountered and how to conduct data quality assurance. The workshop will explain the relationship between specific performance metrics and the activities which form an asset management program. The second half of the workshop will teach and practice participants in calculating and applying the Mean Cumulative Function to inform capital replacement, predict increase in maintenance/support costs, and identify equipment performance in different environments.

2. Asset Leadership:
   Engaging Stakeholders for Strategic Outcomes
   Monique Beedles, Teak Yew
   Effective Asset Management requires a multi-disciplinary approach that considers the organisation as a whole and takes a long-term view. As a leader with responsibility for Asset Management outcomes, you need to engage with a wide group of stakeholders, both internal and external to your organisation. Your ability to influence these stakeholders, with or without formal authority, is a critical skill for Asset Leaders in any organisation. This workshop focuses on the conference theme to ‘be part of your organisation’s solution’. You will gain skills that improve your engagement with key stakeholders, to ensure the best strategic outcomes for your business.

3. Improving Maintenance Strategies and Asset Performance Management
   Steve Turner, OMCS International
   This workshop will emphasise the PM Optimisation methodology, which is an RCM based approach to maintenance analysis designed for existing plant or new plant that has vendor generated maintenance programs. The course material is the result of almost two decades of consultation and successful implementation programs with leading local and international companies. The course will also cover the integration of PM Optimisation, with planning and scheduling, data collection, asset health and incident management techniques. The integration of these processes is known as Asset Performance Management (APM). The course provides a combination of theoretical concepts bedded in with a practical case study completed by the delegates either on paper or on a spreadsheet. Participants receive six months free access to the APM software hosted on cloud or loaded onto their laptop.

4. Managing Reliability with ISO 55000
   Philip Sage, ARMS Reliability
   Five steps to effectively integrate management of reliability within the upcoming release of ISO 55000 standard for asset management. Support the environment needed for better judgment in the operation and maintenance decision making process. Expand techniques like Reliability Centered Maintenance (RCM) & Failure Modes and Effects Analysis (FMEA) to ensure that maintenance tasks and intervals are more appropriate, selected and justified under ISO 55000. Insight for integration with SAP and MAXIMO, and other systems.

About Melbourne

Being ranked as the world’s most liveable city in 2011 and again in 2012 could be a standard hard to maintain, but Melbourne does it with ease. Whilst visitors may be unaware of the everyday factors contributing to this honoured titled, it’s hard to ignore the city bursting with cultural vibrancy from festivals to food, art to artisans, bars to baristas. Whether you love the outdoors or city bustle, Melbourne’s got it all.

Young Asset Management Practitioners

This year’s Asset Management Conference will provide a conference session, networking event and focus group specifically for Young Asset Management Practitioners (YAMPs).

Whether you are a young asset management practitioner (or interested in becoming one!) or someone with a little more experience under their belt, able to help out, or even mentor: we want you. Come to the conference, volunteer, participate and network.

Get involved by:

Emailing yamp@amcouncil.com.au, or
Calling the Asset Management Council on +61 (0) 3 9819 2515

YAMPs get involved by emailing, calling (as above) and joining the Young Asset Management Practitioners LinkedIn Group:
http://www.linkedin.com/groups/Young-Asset-Management-Practitioners-4584114/about

Please note, the discounts apply to a limited number of rooms so early booking is advisable.
